

Asia-Europe Meeting
ASEM 10 - MILAN 2014

Milan, 16-17 October 2014

Media Handbook

1. Introduction

Ladies and Gentlemen of the Press,

Dear ASEM Friends,

I am happy to welcome you to Italy and to the 10th Asia-Europe Meeting (ASEM) Summit in my capacity of President of the Council of the European Union. Together with the President of the European Council, Herman Van Rompuy, we have chosen to host the Summit in Milan.

In the next few months, Milan will host both ASEM10 and EXPO Milan 2015. Two major events that will address fundamental issues for our Countries, such as sustainable growth, food security, innovative technologies, water management, climate change and energy.

I look forward to fruitful and result oriented dialogue among the ASEM Leaders. We are glad to be joined for the first time by Croatia and Kazakhstan on the occasion of this Summit, thus bringing their number to an impressive total of 53 ASEM partners.

This ASEM10 Media Handbook has been tailored to guide the delegations attending the event, providing all practical details in order to allow you to have a very smooth and positive experience during the Summit. I also hope you will be able to spare some time to take a stroll to the extraordinarily beautiful historical centre of Milan, and, why not, visit some of the other splendid towns in our Country.

Have a most pleasant stay in Italy.

Matteo Renzi
President of the Council of Ministers of Italy

The host broadcaster will cover the press conference. Further information on the host broadcaster services on <http://italia2014.eu/en/media-room/host-broadcaster/>.

The press conference is also broadcasted to the media centre and will be live streamed on www.italia2014.eu

4.6 Media Programme & Groups

During the summit's proceedings, access for media representatives is possible only via audiovisual pools for specific events of the programme and under supervision of the Summit Host Press Service.

Group cards are issued for each event and distributed via national delegations. As the number of places is limited, these might be allocated on a "first come, first served" basis.

Media representatives shall meet 30 minutes before each event at the Media Information Desk at Level 0. Due to time restriction for each event, we kindly ask for media collaboration.

No photographer/cameraman is allowed to join groups without the relevant group card and unaccompanied by Summit Host personnel. Official photographers/cameraman accompanying delegations and holding a group card should join relevant group at the indicated time at the meeting point.

Please note that cameras' microphones should be set to record only background sounds (and not conversations). In case conversations are captured, these cannot be used for any purpose.

The presence of media covering the bilateral meetings, announced under the precise arrangements established with the ASEM10 Summit Host, is allowed upon request of delegations hosting the meeting and handled by the Summit Host Press Service. In order to access the blue or red zones where the bilateral meetings are held, media representatives must be accompanied by Summit Host personnel while displaying the yellow nominative ASEM10 media badge in combination with the orange floater badge specifically issued for each bilateral meeting.

5.1 Bird's View of ASEM10 Venues.

(See Annex 1 for more detailed maps)

Mi.Co. Summit Main Venue , 13 - 17 October
Via Gattamelata, 5

Located in downtown Milan, with a parking lot for more than 1,100 cars, a heliport and direct access to Milan's future subway line 5, Milano Congressi (Mi.Co.) was designed in 2002 and doubled in size in 2005: the current extension places among the largest conference facilities in Europe and worldwide, catering for up to 18,000 people in just about 70 fully appointed conference rooms with permanent control booth. Featuring two plenary rooms - one with seating for 4,000 and the other for 2,000 - an Auditorium that seats 1,500 and exhibition halls that offer 54,000 sq.m of exhibition space which can also be set up as extra plenary room accommodating more than 5,000 people. The conference rooms feature the full range of technologies: video projector, sound system, translator booths, fixed video cameras, closed circuit TV, Wi-Fi internet access and optical fiber cables.

Palazzo Marino SOM Dinner , 13 October

Piazza della Scala, 2

Now facing the Teatro alla Scala, but originally overlooking piazza San Fedele, Palazzo Marino was built between 1557 and 1563 by the architect Galeazzo Alessi for Tommaso Marino, a banker, in an overdecorated style quite different from most palazzi in Milan,

The Castello Sforzesco, built by Francesco Sforza, first Duke of Milan of the Sforza dynasty, enlarging a previous fortress of the Visconti, has been for centuries the symbol of military power. Its museum hosts, among several masterpieces, the world-famous "Pietà" by Michelangelo Buonarroti.

Napoleon as King of Italy surrounded the castle on the one side with the impressive frame of the Foro Buonaparte and placed the Arena and the Arch of Peace on the opposite side.

The Pinacoteca di Brera, museum displaying an outstanding collection of paintings, such as Raphael's "Marriage of the Virgin", Mantegna's "Death of Christ", Caravaggio's "Supper at Emmaus", and Piero della Francesca's "Montefeltro Altarpiece" is well worth a visit.

Other remarkable museums are the recently opened Gallerie d'Italia in piazza della Scala, hosting masterpieces of the XIX century Italian art, the Museo della Scienza e della Tecnologia with its unique collection of machines after Leonardo da Vinci, the Museo del Novecento, next to the Duomo, displaying Italian and international XX century works of art; the Pinacoteca Ambrosiana, which can boast the Atlantic Codex by Leonardo da Vinci, the Museo del Duomo, housing objects and documents pertaining to the construction of the cathedral, the Poldi Pezzoli private collection, with its marvelous "Dama" by Domenico Pollaiuolo, the Museo della Scala, dedicated to the history of the Milan Opera House, the Triennale Design Museum, featuring annual changing exhibitions and the former industrial plant Hangar Bicocca, a space dedicated to the promotion of contemporary art and modern installations.

Milan is also one of the world capitals of fashion, offering an unimaginable range of luxury boutiques and design stores in the so-called "Quadrilatero della Moda", formed by via Spiga, Corso Venezia, via Monte Napoleone and via Manzoni.

The Navigli is a network of canals built during the Renaissance by Leonardo da Vinci, and connecting the city to the main rivers of Lombardy, to allow an easy transportation of building materials for palaces and churches. The area is now home to hundreds of trendy venues with small bars and restaurants especially loved by young people. The Brera district and corso Como are also known for its bohemian atmosphere and trendy nightlife.

Milan famous churches include Sant'Ambrogio, San Gottardo, Sant'Eustorgio, San Lorenzo, Santa Maria delle Grazie, while important family mansions include Villa Belgiojoso, palazzo Marino, now hosting the Town Hall, palazzo Litta, palazzo Borromeo, palazzo Belgiojoso, the House of the Atellani, palazzo Serbelloni, palazzo Archinto, palazzo Sormani, palazzo Castiglioni, palazzo Silvestri, palazzo Bagatti Valsecchi, the House of Alessandro Manzoni. The northern part of the city has recently acquired a number of impressive modern skyscrapers including palazzo Lombardia and Grattacielo Pirelli.

The Meazza Stadium, with 80.000 seats, is the home of two of the most successful Italian football clubs, A.C. Milan and F.C. Internazionale. It includes a museum with the memorabilia of the two legendary teams.

Milan will host next year EXPO 2015, the universal exposition that from May 1st to the 31st of October will be dedicated to the subject of nutrition. "Feeding the planet. Energy for life" is in fact the theme chosen for the event.
